NEWS & BUSINESS

4TH DEC. at
22:00 CAT/ 23:00 EAT

The Coming War On China (Eps 1)
Al Jazeera Channel 520

Nuclear War is not only imaginable, but planned according to award winning journalist John Pilger who has been investigating the greatest build-up of military forces since the second world war is underway on the western borders of Russia. On the other side of the world, the rise of China is viewed in Washington as a threat to American dominance. To counter this, president Obama announced a "pivot to Asia", which meant that almost two-thirds of all US naval forces would be transferred to Asia and the Pacific, their weapons aimed at China. A policy which has been taken up by his successor Donald Trump, who during his election campaign said "we can't continue to allow china to rape our country and that's what they're doing".

Filmed on five possible front-lines across Asia and the Pacific over two years, the story is told in chapters that connect a secret and "forgotten" past to the rapacious actions of great power today and to a resistance, of which little is known in the west.

Witness: Cahier African
Al Jazeera Channel 520

This story begins with a small school notebook filled with pages of courageous testimonies from 300 Central African women, girls and men. On their own initiative, they decided to record crimes committed against them by Congolese mercenaries in the early 2000s. Amzine a young Muslim woman gave birth to a child as a result of rape. Her daughter, 12-year-old Fane is a daily reminder of the suffering she has now entrusted to the notebook. Arlette, a young Christian girl dreams of a pain-free existence after being shot in the leg. As they go about their daily lives hoping for justice while the war crimes tribunal in The Hague is underway, to their horror a new war breaks out in the Central African Republic. Filmed for over seven years, the film bears witness to the collapse of order and civilization in the Central African Republic.

101 East gets a coveted invite into the gold-glided world of India's new maharajas. Extravagant Bollywood weddings, luxury yachts, the finest delicacies and opulent homes. India's billionaires are cashed up and they're bit afraid to flaunt it. India is home to the highest number of billionaires in the world after China and the US, its super-rich love to splurge on round-the-world, first-class holidays and lavish parties no expense spared. But in a country where millions still live in poverty, the spending habits of the wealthiest and self-made success stories spark controversy.
